f DOMESTIC CARREST MESTER.—It is one of the marveb of the age that such vast sums are expended in getting up apparently trifling articles; and another marvel that these are of so much utility. Large fortunes have been made out of matches, which are sold at the rate of one or two hundred for a penny. Somewhat similar we are told, is to be the success of a recent invention for repairing all kinds of furniture,-"Spalding's Prepared Gine." It is prepared chemically, will keep in all climates, may be applied on the instant, and if all that is said of it is true, must become highly useful in repairing broken furniture, dilapidated books, and indeed in all cases where glue is usually applied

We merely intended at the outset to chroni cle for the benefit of posterity a little incident of the play, and we have gone off into the particulars of a five-act tragedy. However, it makes no difference-we've got nothing else to do. "Lodovico," with the aid and comfort of a rascally young female girl of some personal attractions, who is known to the prothat "Evadue" has surreptitiously withhis prerogative to prevent the transaction. like a couple of young people with an attack of the delirium tremens and the tooth-ache, if he has n't ceased to regard his health as a thing worth looking after, he'd better quit insulting his sister. "Vince" as good as tells him he "shan't do no such thing." At which "Coloda" flares up worse that ever, slaps "Vicentio" on the breast with his DO NOT BE DECEIVED BY INthat he means to go and cut her brother's throat if he has to wade through a mud-puddle of blood and brains as deep as the hole the Administrasion has swindled into the Treasury. He accordingly precipitates himself, sword in hand, through a side-door, as mad as a Devonshire bull at Balmoral, while "Evadne," "overcome by contending emotions," but principally by the fear that some > spread-eagle on the floor, and the drop-curtain discends. This incident comes in the end of the sec o nd act. The powers behind the scenes failed the other night to make a chalk-line (as somebody said they ought to do) to mark where the curtain comes down and for the players to fall inside of; and the consequence was, when "Evadne" fainted and fell, she found herself immediately under the dropscene, the wooden roller of which is quite debted for a premium list and a complimenheavy enough to inspire one with an earnest desire to avoid being struck by it. Down it came, threatening to crush the motionless maiden, seemingly all unconcious of the impending blow. The whole house held its breath, expecting to witness a tragic scene such as the programme did not have the hardihood and impudence to call for, when suddenly a dozen voices cried excitedly "hold !--hold on there ! " from the side- severance and indomitable will the builder is scenes, and some "heroic arm whose daring greatly indebted for the present forward conhistory yet ignores," gallantly snatched the fair "Evadne" from the jaws of fate, and the

At the regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen yesterday afternoon, the report of the City Sexton was real, which showed forty-nine interments for the month og August-34 whites and 15 blacks. A number of petitions, of insignificant im-

Resolutions from Common Council in regard to a lot purchased of John Corbitt, concurred in. Several matters, in an incomplete state were acted upon. After which the Board proceeded to the appointment of the Judges Clerks and Receivers of votes, to open and hold the ensuing municipal election.

The Board then adjourned. Union Men of Macon .- On the 5th inst. the Union men of Macon county, Tenn., organized a Central Committee, composed of John C. Marshall, P. A. Wilkinson, John M. Uhls, N.
